The Walker Coporation's plans for the site.

Kew off to court

Walker Corporation development manager Kevin Hunt said the developers should be given a chance. "I just believe that if Walker was allowed to get on and deliver what we have promised, everyone would be extremely happy with the proposed development," Mr Hunt said. "That is, the new residents, the existing community and, of course, the current residents who are going to stay on the site in the 20 houses that we are building for them." VCAT planning registrar Richard O'Keefe said the case was unusual because it featured the council, KRS and Mr Hulls, but would be treated like any other hearing.
